

CHILDREN OF ALCOHOLICS

An Overview

The Facts

Alcoholism and drug abuse affects the entire family.

Children of alcoholics:

- are at greater risk for alcoholism and other drug abuse when compared to children of non-alcoholics,
- face greater physical and mental health concerns (specifically depression and anxiety) than children of non-alcoholics;
- have greater difficulty in school; and
- have greater difficulty with abstract and conceptual reasoning.

Know the Following Signs<sup>2</sup>

Guilt: may feel like they are the reason for parents' alcohol/drug use

Anxiety: fear of arguments and/or uncertainty creates constant worry and emotional hyper vigilance.

Embarrassment: may feel ashamed of the family "secret" which may cause them to withdraw from others

Confusion: unpredictability in the family life causes uncertainty in other situations

Inability to trust: repeated disappointments and broken promises make it difficult to trust and develop close bonds with others

Anger: may be a result of resentment toward the drinking parent. Most often anger is projected on to innocent people

Depression: feelings of loneliness and helplessness are common

PARENTS LEAD
LISTEN EDUCATE ASK DISCUSS
for Professionals

www.parentslead.org

Source<sup>1</sup>: "COA: Important Facts." COA: Important Facts. National Association for Children of Alcoholics, Aug. 1998. www.nacoa.net/impfacts.htm

Source<sup>2</sup>: Turney, Lisa. "Children of Alcoholics: How to Help When a Parent Has a Problem." Children of Alcoholics: How to Help When a Parent Has a Problem. Do It Now Foundation, July 2007. www.doitnow.org/pages/808.html